

Lab 2: Makefiles

Write a makefile to compile the linked list program written in your tutorial.

The Makefile must compile each .cpp file separately into a .o file and must use the correct flags for compilation and correct flags for linking.

Think about the strengths of creating a Makefile rather than using CMake.

Which do you prefer?

Which is easier to use?

Which will be more flexible to use in projects in this course and future projects?